derrates the expense of the proposed improve-ment and magnifies the cheapness and dura-bility of his cobble stones. If a property holder expresses a preference for some other holder expresses a preference for some other description of paving, he is told that it is very costly, very perishable, requiring fre-quent repairs, and in every respect inferior to his precipus, everlasting cobbles. If the tax-payer is flow to believe these representations the contractor adroitly sends different per-sons, who advice him by all means to go for ping and mining, the contracter obtains the names, of a portion, or perhaps a majority of the owners of the adjoining property, to his petitlor. He hands the document to his "friend" in the Council, who is a ways ready to put through anything the contractor desires. The petition passes mode of improving their street; the city authorities take no part in the matter, and the adroit, active contractor slips in between the undecided citizens and the passive officials, the adroit, active contractor slips in between the undecided citizens and the passive officials, and settles the question to suit his own pecuniary interests.

The result of this style of doing business is seen on the paved street. Before the contractor has the cobbles laid on the last part of his job the first part needs re-paving, and to keep the street in order it will require continual patching and mending. The subject of paving is one of prime importance to owners of Chicago real estate—and indeed interests all classes of permanent residents—renters as well as owners.

Within the next ten years more than one hundred miles of streets will have to—raised to grade and paved. Much of this great length is embraced in the business portions of the city, and must be paved in a substantial manner. It will answer for a great many years to plank, gravel or Macadamize the merely residence or "out-side" streets, and we will not stop to discuss them. There are in use on the business threets four sorts of paving material, viz: plank' cobble stone, block stone and the Nicholson blocks. The amount of each in use is in the Cehotsk Sea. blocks. The amount of each in use is in an inverse ratio to its merits. There is most of the worst and least of the test sort laid down in the streets. The only good reason for this is, that the interested advocates of the lnerfor paving material, have been more active and dexterous in securing its adop-ence to certain charges alleged in your paper to have been made by him, of ill treatment of Mr. Douglas' slaves.

Had I supposed, for a moment, that these charges were made on my authority, I should at once have released Mr. Slidell from say imputation of having made statements of the kind.

The fact that your informant was stated to be an intimate, personal friend of Mr. Slidell, precluded, in my mind, the slightest idea that it referred to me, as our acquaintance was very alight, and I had not the honor of seeing him during his visit to Chicago. If, therefore, the statements in question have been based on any supposed authority of mine, I sak the privilege of saying distinctly, through your columns, that is from an entire missppreheasion of any conversation I may have had with you.

I should have made this correction some days since, had I not been informed by one of the editors of the paper, that my name had not been referred to in the matter.

By giving this a place in your issue of tomorrow, you will much oblige,

Tour ob't serv's, DANEE, BARKARD.

Since writing a statement in relation to the sffair above treated, we received Dr. Brainard's, note. Its ambignity is more admirable than its directness; and as we do not choose to rest under the imputation of having manufactured the thority that about 277 of the wild Africans, a portion of the eargo of the Wanderer, are now on a plantation in South Carolina, on the Savannah River, having been brought there on board a steamboat from some point near Savannah, and will soon be offered for sale. Sales have alreedy been made of some of the cargo-The Augusta Dispatch has the following:

"Two hundred and seventy-seven of the cargo of Africans recently landed near Brunswick, were brought up the Savannah River, and put sahore at the mouth of Horse Creek, three miles below this city, on the Carolina side. One of the river boats is supposed to have taken them from the boat which brought them by Savannah in the night, to a point twelve miles above that city.

We searn on good authority that the existing the savannah card and the savannah in the night, to a point twelve miles above that city.

Either the rates now charged should be reduced, or a home institution organized without delay, with officers from our own numbers, who are eminestly qualified to manage the matter in detail. We would willingly test the practicability of the movement by going over a space of ten years, but five years confines it to the recollection of most of our citizens. We have now the steam fire engine brought into use, and as our lumber yards are on the line of the river where water is abundant, there is no good resson to suppose that the destruction by fire would be greater, or even as great, as heretofore, for the next five years. The chances are that the loss will be far less. Who will move in the CHICAGO, FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 24, 1858.

This University of Chicago.—The friends of this institution, who indeed may be said to comprise the friends of education in our city, are just now with reason rejoicing over the present favorable prospects, and past wonderful results in and of this enterprise.

Within a few days past, in the course of a ride in our southern suburbs, we admired from the carriage, without the leisure for a more through examination, the beautiful stone structure, which, despite the depression that has weighted heavily on all branches of industry and enterprise for the past year, has grown steadily to its present state of forwardness. The building, to which we shall devote a more detailed, description hereafter, is now enclosed, and will see pushed to completion throughout this winter season. It is to be an elegant structure, and cost as it will a tand when fin-

E The circular of the Board of Trustees has been laid upon our table. It presents, in brief, the promise and prospects of the Institution.

In the interim of the completion of the main building, the several departments of instruction have been organized under competent professors, meeting for the present in the large and commodious basement apartments in the St. Paul Universalist Church, concer of Wabash avenue and Van Dana street.

SCICIDS BY A FREALK.—Yesterday morning, Coroner Wm. James held an inquest on the body of one Elizabeth Sweet, who died on Wednesday night at her residence in the North Division, just in the rear of the Water Works. She is the wife of John Ludwig, a cooper by trade, who states that she drank the poison, which is probably opium, in the night, and died which is probably opium, in the night, and died at an early hour in the morning. By his own statement (and marks on her body corroborate it), domestic difficulty was the cause of her rash deed. She was about twenty-seven years of age, and a woman of prepossessing appearance. She has relatives residing in Ashtabula, Ohio-Drs. Hollister and Hunt held a post mortem arswingation.

In the stove, among the ashes, was found a fragment of a vial, bearing a portion of a druggist's label. By this, the druggist was found on North Clark street, near Huron, who remembered to have sold to a woman, answering the de

The unfortunate woman led a life of much unhappiness and domestic difficulty, and had twice before taken laudanum, but in insufficient doses

The girl was at once found and removes to the Station House, and a hearing of the case was had in yesterday's Police Court. The gury averred that her family had treated her with cruelty, that she would not return home, and

RY A RAILBOAD TRAIN—ANOTHER WARNING.—A shocking casulty took place yesterday in the West Division, which deserves to be heeded as another of the numerous warnings as to the positive peril

Before reaching the crossing however, the three undertook to leave, two of them did so in safety but the third, a man named Patrick Wilson, missing his footing fell directly across the rail and the wheels passed over him c ushing and mangiling him in a most shock ag manner. His limbs were both severed from his body, his chest and abdomen almost cut in two.

An inquest was held by Coroner James, a verdict being rendered in accordance with the facts.

how the devil will manage society in its hours of leisure—anathematising and prescribing all who fall into his clutches. The demand of the times is that Christianity take possession of the amusements, innocent in themselves, which are known to gratify, and turn them to the account of virtuous, healthful entertainment. The religion of France, Italy and Germany administers to the popular demand for recreation, but the Protestantism of England and America, when it first protested, protested against everything associated with Popery. But the people have burst the bounds of the national religion and gone into excesses almost fatal to the existence of society. Nothing but the homes of America—the ten er and true relations of husband, wife and children—preserve us from a social state worse, if not ten times worse, than that of France.

France.
Shall our social life be controlled by Christ or Belial? The la ter has long had possession of the best music, the finest horses and the most brilliant entertainments. The best men in the world ought to have the best things in the world—social things as well. Not a sport of the field, nor a division of knaves who live upon their perversion, and con-vert them to the innocent means of satisfying the aniversal craving for recreation and social pleas-and parties abound. We are up to lorget in this season of rejoicing a large portion of our population to whom Christmas brings no pleas-ure, and the anniversary of our Saviour's birth is only remembered or anticipated as a season of bitter cold and want. The children of pover-ty have no kind parents to decorate for them Christmas trees, nor a good Santa Clans to fill their stockings on Christmas are and therefore.

We were led to make these remarks from attending a Pic-nie yesterday at the West Side Industrial School. It was a plain affair, gotten up without much expense, and yet one hundred and thirty little haarts were made glad, and one and thirty little children had the satisfaction of having plenty to eat for at least once within a year. The exercises were opened by singing, followed by addresses and dialogues from the children. Rev. Robert Patserson, of the Sootch Presbyterian Church, then made a few appropriate remarks, and asked a blessing. After this came the distribution of biscuit, andwich-es, cakes, candies, fruits, &c. It was easy to see, from the way the refreshments disappeared

At four o'clock the Pic-aic was over, and the donors and recipients wended their way home-ward, all the happier for this little episode in the holidaya. These Industrial Schools should be well sustained by our citizens, for they do more well sustained by our citizens, for they do more good, perhaps, than any other charitable socie-ty in our city. A class of children, many of them street beggars, and all belonging to the lowest grade of society, who could not be induced to enter a Public School, where tattered garments and ignorance would subject them to the un-triendly criticism of the other children, are perfriendly criticism of the other children, are per-suaded to eater here. Their morals are cultiva-ted, as well as their minds, and useful lessons are taught them which they will never forget. It is astonishing to notice, under judicious teaching, how fast they improve. After the children have learned to read and have become somewhat advanced, they are examined by a committee of ladies, suitable clothes are provi-Schools, where they enter wish our own onli-dren, and have the same opport antily for secur-ing a good education—and we may add, if they can only rise superior to the temptations which assail them at home, may grow up useful mem-bers of society, instead of filling our bridewells and almabouses.

rious kinds of music with which the lovers of the art in Chicago are more or less familiar, we believe a good chorus of male voices has not been included, unless occasionally in connec-tion with the German language. We learn that a number of gentlemen of ade-quate taste and talent, have determined to de-vote some attention to this department so little appreciated in this country, and have associa-ed themselves together for the practice of the "Four part Songs" of Mendelssobn, the gems of Weber, Kucken, Otto, and others sdapted to words in our own language.

of Weber, Kucken, Otto, and others adapted to words in our own language.

Having already procured a choice supply of music, and fully entered on the practice, it is to be presumed that the members of the Mendelssohn Society will have occasion to congratulate themselves upon having initiated in a suitable form, so agreeable, and to us so novel, a style of music. The Society is composed entirely of gentlemen who meet every Taceday evening, at their hall in the Portland Block, for the purpose of rehearing choruses from Mendelssohn, Yon Waber, etc. The Society numbers at present twenty members, and has adopted a Constitution. LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

APPEALS PROM THE POLICE COURT—INFORTANT DECISION.—Cook County Court of Common Pleas. Judge J. M. Wilse in Prociding. In this Court yesterday a most important decision was rendered by Judge John M. Wilso in reference to appeal cases from Police Justices.

The case was the City of Chicago vs. Mike Sweeny, and the decision was rendered on a motion made by the City Attorney to dismiss the appeal taken by the defendant—on the ground that the transcript showed that the party had been fined, and also in addition sentenced to be imprisoned in the City Bridewell for sixty days, and that from such a judgment there was no appeal. The City Attorney to demine the appeal was allowed that it should not release a party from the sentence committing him to the Bridewell.

The Court denied the motion, on the ground that, the action being in the form of debt and a movery penalty stateched, that an appeal would it is just the Court further decided that an appeal much a case would not release the party from the Bridewell when once committed—that the Justice having once rendered his decision his authority closes, and that the Bridewell Keeper should not release any under such circumstances, unless by authority of a competent court, and that Asbeas corpus was the proper remedy. This decision is one of the most important yet rendered and will work an entire revolution in the Bridewell practices.

As I have been obliged to allude to my visit to Chicago, it may be as well to say that it was made with no political purpose, and that, until I reached Clevaland, I had hoped and expected to make my Northwesters tour with Vice President Breckenridge. His company, I suppose, would have shielded me from any suspicion of being engaged in a political creased against Mr. Dougias. I wish it also to be understood that this note is written solely to protect myself against a base calumny, and to vindicate the character of my friend Mr. Meliation. Mr. Dougias has, by suthorizing and countenancing anonymous attacks on me, through a person of The resistance of slavery in Kansas Territoring the state of the Territoring Legislatures.

of the most disgraceful and unrepublican stamp. A war of four years' duration, marked not unfrequently by ashes and blood—the contending forces representing Free Labor and Elave Labor, and each seeking to engral its principle in the fundamental law of the State—has scarce terminated. Frand and crime, so flagrant and high-handed that posterity will unwillingly believe the history of the times, marked the course of the general government in its espousal of the labor interest. Tet the opposite principle has triumphed over foes without and within. The Free State cause has accured a scoutful of the Logislainrs, which will there engaly suppress all future efforts to make slayery an institution on the soil of Kansas, and the principle in stitution on the soil of Kansas, where the subjects of inhuman and disgraceful treatment—that they were hired out to a factor, at fifteen

I had beard, some two or three days since, of the assertion made by the Chicago Press and Tribons, and had also heard that subsequently the same journal had given the name of Dr. Daniel Brainard, of Chicago, as sathority for that assertion. I have not been able, after causing diligent search to be made, to find either of these numbers of the Press and Tribons. The subject of the address has avening by M.

L. Dunlap, was the protection of Prairie Orchards, and the variaties adapted to this climate.

As the speaker is a particular friend of ours, we may be axessed from speaking of the merits of the address, further than to say that it is is a fair way of coming before the public soon. To-day the small fruits have been the principal topic, commencing with grapes, Norton's Virginian appears to be taking the lead in Missouri and other places as a wine grape, and was highly commended to planters in the South part of the State. The Delaware and Ohio Seedling grape gives promise of great value, both for the

among the reda, and the White Grape Current, among the whites, were the general favorites. It was conceded that the current for wine was superior to the grape in northern and central fillinois, and would prove valuable for this purpose, and without doubt as profitable as grape culture farther South. Deep rich culture and alight shading during part of the day were recommended. Of Gooseberries, Houghton's Seedlings and Red Cluster, or Pale Red, were the only varieties found worthy the new sorts not Seedlings and Red Cluster, or Pale Red, were the only varieties found worthy, the new sorts not having been sufficiently tested to warrant an opinion of their merita. All of the large old sorts mildew so badly that they have been discarded.

Of Blackberries, the Lewton was highly commended by our Alton cultivators, while our Egyptian friends became eloquent over their mative sorts, two varieties of which were highly commended. This we can endorse, and so fully are we impressed with their value, that during a visit to that portion of the State, in the season of this fruit, we had a large lot of these two varieties marked, and next week we intend to go after them, so as to give them a thorough trial by the side of the Lawton. The discussion on Raspberries was one of no uncommon interest. The common Black Cap of the woods was highly esteemed by many, but was not a general favorite. Mr. Coleman, of St. Louis, who grows several screes annually for market, has about four acres of the Black Cap, and is much pleased with it. He also has the Armenian Yellow, and esteems it highly. Others coincided in this view, but he had found Brinkle's Orange the most productive when protected in winter—is apit to die the first year, if permitted to be surged to the screen; have not as possible to the first year, if permitted to be surged to the screen; to this place, in five days—one hundred and twenty winter the died of the screen; to this place, in five days—one hundred and twenty winter the died of the screen; to this place, in five days—one hundred and twenty winter the died of the screen; to the place of the screen; to the place, in five days—one hundred and twenty winter the died of the screen; to the place of the screen; to the place of the screen; to the place of the screen five days—one hundred and twenty winter the screen for the screen of the screen five days. On rear-ing them they should be cut back to the ground before setting. The next year they will produce well, when, with good culture and covering the leaves with earth in winter, will insure satisfactory results.

Allen's Raspherry was also highly commended by several. Mr. Elliott thinks it identical with the English Red; at all events, it is hardy and prolific. Mr. Coleman considers the Catawissa to be the greatest acquisition. The fruit ripens gradually, and when the frost came the past autumn, his cases were loaded with fruit.

Mr. D. C. Oakes has arrived within a few days at Gleawood, direct from the gold mines. He reports that the gold Belds are paying finely—the prospects most flattering—the health of the boys good, and they are in excellent spirits, confident of realizing the fortunes which have hauned them by night and been the subject of their day dreams. The latest accounts from the gold fields are most durating and brilliant, and will set half crazy the inhabitants of the border. The students number forty males and lifty-eight females. We observed several vacant seats, which should be filled by teachers from some of our interior counties.

The news from the mines comes in so thick and fast, that it is impossible to give it all to our readers. We have therefore concluded to condense what we have received, and give our readers the substance without entering into de-Messrs, Graham and Smith, with whom we are personally acquainted, and can vouch for what they say, inform us that they prospected in fifty different places near Cherry Oreek, and found gold in every instance; that the Georgia company prespected along the base of the mountains and on the banks of the streams, for a distance of seven hundred miles, finding gold everywhere! fice, and agreeably surprised to find so large a show of printing material as is here displayed, all of which is in the most perfect order, and it

Any action upon them very naturally met with the most strenuous opposition from "the faithing house of Danean, Sherman & Co., writes as follows:

We have collected all the information that has reached us since the lat of September last, and regard the following as facts well authenticated:

1. That deposits of gold exist along the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains, from Parallel 33 to Parallel 43. 3. That the gold thus far discovered is "dust," "scale" and "shot gold. 3. That the dust and scale gold is found on the South Fork of Platta and its tributaries.

4. That shot gold is found on the Arkansa, near its sources and its tributaries. 5. That the "dad recel" has in no case been reached as far as we are informed. 4. That the gold-bearing earth lies from two to six feet below the surface; and the strainm is from four to twelve inches in thickness. This refers to the region in the vicinity of Cherry Oreak." We have no information on this posit from any other region. 7. That this distance of the discovered mines, in the vicinity of Cherry Oreak, from the mountains, is from twenty to fifty miles. 8. That some specimens of "Nagget" gold have been found, ranging in value from $1 to $15. 9. That wood and water are abundant; the wood chiefly pine. 10. Distance from Leavenworth Oity to Cherry Creek mines 700 miles by the Ft. Our informant states that the citizens at Fort Kearney had sent out a man to escertain the facts relative to the gold miness it Cherry Creek, and he had returned and reported that the diggings would pay from five to eight dollars per day to the man. The consequence is that there is great excitament at Fort Kearney relative to the mines. At Laramie there were about one hundred miners who had come in to winter, designing to return to the mines in the spring. The weather had been delightful all the fail at Fort Laramie; snow had not yet fallen up to the time of the departure of Mr. Franklin.

SKIPPER GEORGE'S STORY A Touching Adventure on the Coast o

[From "The New Priest," recently published.]

"You have the best lookout in the neighborhood," said Mr. Debree, walking to the spot on which Skipper George had been be fore standing and looking abroad from it. "This tree didn's grow here" said he, looking up at the gray trunk glistening in the moonlight.

"No, sir; 'iwas set there," said the fi-herman.

"This tree didn't grow here" said he, looking up at the gray trunk glistening in the moonlight.

"No, sir; 'twas set there," said the fisherman.

"I it a landmark?"

"I would aske on the saken a way. Riches came agen, but 'twas laved, for 'e'd larned partly how to value riches."

The gentlemen looked has the moonlight showed, interestedly at "I is peaker: "Another story with a lesson in it?" he said. "If it would ask you to do me the favor of tolling it."

"Ay, sir," said. Skipper George. "I said there were amany lessons sent us. This one comed nearer to me again than the tother. I hope I've larned somethum by that story! Fishermen don't beed night hours much; but it's late for you as well, sir. Mubbe e'd plase to walk inside a bit?" he asked, with modest urgeney. "It's a short story, only a heavy one?!"

"Another time, perhaps," said the strange gentleman; "not now, if you'll exouse me; but if it wouldn't be too much trouble I would thank you for it where we are. One hour or another is much the same to me."

Perhaps he may have thought it strange that one who looked so like a clergyman should be staying for any length of time in the neighborhood without being better koon.

"I am a clergyman," said the gentleman, frankiy; "but not of your church; and I

"Then, sir," srid he, "ef 'ee'd please to be seated here, I'd tell the story. I know is well."

Before beginning it the fisherman cast a look at his house, and then gazed awhile upon the rectices waves which here gianced with the gleam of treacherous eyes, and then were dark as death.

"Do 'ee mind about ten yeersago, in Newfoundland, sir!" began Sk'pper George, turning his steady eyes to his hearer, and speaking as it the date or the years since the date had been painful to him; "the hard year that was when they had the 'ralls, they called 'em?"

"Well, str, then there comed word over, that some men had abin found at Broad Cove—It was n' known who they were; but we knowed. So they got Mr. Worner's boat, an' a crew of 'em went round, an' Skipper 'Energy Ressie and Skipper Lizk Ressie (that was Milly's father) an' Skipper Lizk Marchant, ('e was n' Skipper Lizk Marchant, ('e was n' Skipper Lizk Marchant, ('e was n' Skipper Lizk Marchant, ('a was n' Skipper Lizk Marchant, ('e was n' Skipper then, however,') but a many friends goed in her—I beald n' go that time, sir.

"Twas about sun goun down, she comed in. Never a word nor a sound? She looked black seemualy; an' no colors nor flag. "Twas they! Shure enough 'twas they!

"M man had sid a punt all covered wi' ice, an' hauled her up; an' when he comed to clear away the ice, there was a man seemunly, in the for'ard part! He called the neighbors; an' sure enough, the 'e was, an' another one along wi' un; an' bote seemunly a kneelun an' leanun over the for'ard th'art. They were the two brothers, John an' little George, frozen stiff, an' two arms locked together! They died pr'yun, sir, most likely; so it seemed They was good lads, sir, an' they knowed their God!

"So, then, they thought there was n' no more—"

The fisherman here made a longer pause. year that was when they had the 'rains, they called 'em?"

"Yes; though I was in England at the time, I know pretty well what happened in Newtoundland. It was a sad time."

"Aye, sir, 'twas a sad time. Many people suffered; some wanted food, and more again got broken in spirit, (and that's bad for a man,) and some got lawless like. 'Twas a sad time, indeed!' Skipper George, having lingered thus before his tale, began it abruptly: "Well, sir, 'twas on the sixteenth day of January—a Thursday 'twas—I was things to her in d'ytime. Jesse sid it, an' plucked me by the coat sleeve, and I sid it, too.

Well, sir, night passed; 'ee may be sure we didn' sleep much, on'y cat nape; and once or twice I failed into a kind of dwall, an' started thinking they was a speakun to me. Mornun comed slow and cold, colder than night. So the neighbors comed in at mornun, an sat by; and now an agen one 'ould say they were fine young men; an' after a bit another 'd say James was a brave heart, and how he saved a boat's crew three years ago, scullun them into B'y Harbor; an' so they said how he begun to teach in Sunday School Sunday before; an' how brave—'e was, when they sid the last of un scullen aw'y round the point and over the b'y, for t'other side, or for Belle-Isie, or some place to leeward. So they said James 'ould take 'em safe, plase God, an' we'd hear of 'em some place over the b'y in a d'y or two. Then they said they wouldre git touched, for they was all well-tothed, an' James 'ould keep up their spirits, an' brother Izik's little George was a merry boy, an' great play game for the rest; an' my Maussell an' 'es tother cousin, John, were steady young mea, an' wouldn' give up very easy; but they were both quiet and looked up to James, though John was a good bit older.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The Tribuna's correspondent says that high words took place in secret session yesterday, between Senators Toombe and Mallory, on the ambject of maval nominations.

The anniversary dinner of the New Englard Society, last night, was a happy affair. Among the speakers were the Governor elect, Mr. Morgan, Mayor Theman, and Charles Hale, of the Boston Advertiser.

The Journal of Commerce says that President Juares is awaiting, at Vera Cruz, the receipt of duties from vessels lastly arrived, to commence a movement of his forces against the city of Maxico. red.

Ir. Uovods, of Pennsylvania, asked leave to oduce a resolution for the appointment of a cial Committee of Bre to inquire inhe force sharged by the President of the U. iss, contained in the letter to the Presidenthe Cantenary Committee at Pittaburgh, that hey had been thrown into Pennsylvania to usence the State Congressional election in option to winhen, and report the names of the sons implicated. but is sadly har-seed by the want of funds.

The Journal gives a list of the constitutional forces in other departments, and adds that Zaloaga's power is also jeopardized by a new moyement, looking to a union between the moderates and the church parties, on some man who can command the confidence of both. The movement, however lacks the support of the extreme liberals, for it involves the setting aside of the present constitution. e delias. Trylor size introduced a bill authorizing man to impose tonnage duties for the imment of the channel of the Mississippi. Bingham, of Ohio, introduced a bill to rest English Act for the admission of Kandel and Channel of the Union. Referred to the Committee ritories.

Hous and Provisions.

[From the Chackmail Commercial of resterdar,]

The great confidence displayed by those who are firm in the short crop faith, is maintained with extraordionary strength. The market for live hogs is very active and prices at quotations below, firm, with tendency to advance. The season's business seems likely for close with greater excitement than has been exhibited since its opening. The produce who'bold seem to be unwavering in their macity. The rece pia of Hogs for the day are about 4 500 head, which, with 2,778 left at Errest Station during the past week and those previously.

Ufrom the Loularille Journal of yesterday, Market is still quiet. Provisions have a decided upward tendency; in fact mess pork was held at an advance last evening. We heard of sales of 200 bibls of Oregon mess at $15, a small lot of same rump at $14, 270 bibls shipped on order at $18, and last evening $18 cash ior city packed. Sales on orders of a few cashs bulk shoulders, sides, and hams at $4,@$\frac{1}{2}$, and $9c, and $20 kegs lard at $12c. Hogs IN INDIANA. - The Cincinnati Price Curresi has obtained from the State Auditor of Indi-ana returns of the number of hogs in that State as ascertained by the County Assessors last spring, with the exception of the counties of Jasper Huatington, Warrick and Monroe. Lotteries in Georgia.

AUGUSTA, Dec. 23.—At the recent session of our Legislature some important haw were passed in relation to the subject of Lotteries. In the amended tax bill it is provided in Section 3d, that each manager of any Lottery gatherized by the laws of this State shall pay to the State Treasury $1,000 annually, free of all costs of collection, and in case of failure to pay the same, the said manager of the sagent shall be subject to the same penalty on the collection of taxes as is now provided for in defaulting banks.

The following Act was also passed, and approved by the Governor, viz:—"An Act to repeat all lasts and parts of laws authorizing Lotices in the State of Georgia, and for other purposes:—

A Distressing Malady.

We observe that certain Eastern journare again indulging in lugulorious jeremi over the West. The complaint is a chreone, dating back to the period when emittion to the West first assumed such giga proportions as to cause serious apprehens of the depopulation of the Atlantic Sia We always know what is about to hap when the patient gives indications of the napproach of the fit. Water is no more cert to tring on the paroxysms in hydrophe than extensive preparations for emigrate to the West are to aggravate the symplo of the malady we are speaking of some time past we have been advised that unusually large number of Eastern per contemplate pulling up stakes in the spi and setting their faces Westward. Especihave we been advised of such a state of in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. But if in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. But it had received no such information direct the following from the Philadelphia Amer

sive as to the fact:

A paragraph which we published a few ago, copled from an exchange paper, garden exceedingly gloomy account of the conditional affairs throughout the Western States. The not to be gleaned from the reports of the napers published in that region, we seem to be whistling to keep up courage. But it is a common tale of common all travellars who have resisted west this fall or winter. It is only from sources that we hear the full extent of the asier which has overtaken the people of lately prosperous and jubilant acction of lution. The hard times rage the worst in a places where speculation has been the great and, therefore, the chief focus of mouraffdings, the centre of gloom, is Chicago, mushroom metropolis, which has grown so out of nothing. One person who has retry from there says breadly that the bottom fallen out of the place, while another empha it still more distinctly by saying "Chicago iet."

hat what is going on in Pennsylvania and New England. We are certain now the Spring immigration to the West will immense. And as the region of country which Chicago is the commercial centre that in regard to which the most painful vings are uttered, we may reasonably callate that it forms the chief attraction to multitudes who are about changing their idence. Meanwhile, as the only consolat we can offer our afflicted Eastern cotempories, we remind them that in the end it was ries, we remind them that in the end it is all be for their good. Without the Weather, their cities would soon experies the fate of the ancient cities of the East, of famous for the extent of their commerce, now unsightly heaps of ruins. Let them or fully consider this fact, try the water tree.
